

STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE'S REPORT

JANUARY 2003

Junie Magpantay

We have been in school for nearly a month and are now well into the second semester. Most students were pleased with the grades they received for the last semester, but were somewhat disappointed at the extra effort they had to attain in able to recall the information they gained before the Christmas Break. They believed that most teachers did a good job of preparing them for finals, but still wished that they had come before Christmas Vacation.

Due to the fact that students have been mostly concerned about finals other than particulars, they have not brought very many new concerns to my attention; rather, they brought old concerns. Of these include: the insufficient lighting in our High School Commons and our unique grading scale.

In addition to money and power, students would also like more days for School Sponsored events and to see toilet liners in our bathrooms.

A student suggested that we be given at the most 25 days for School Sponsored events per semester. I further suggest that there be a compromise, or leniency so that students who are on the verge of exceeding limits be able to travel if above average grades are still met.

Students also feel that although our bathrooms seem clean they would like to see potty protectors in the stalls. Even teachers have approached me with their concern. They have more than once recalled seeing the toilets lined with damp toilet paper and left there for our janitor, or the next unsuspecting person to clean. I'm sure that the addition of toilet liners would be beneficial. I will report more on this concern after attaining further information.
